I had the pleasure of working with Murali for 6 months at Continental, since he joined our Machine Intelligence team as a Software Developer Intern. We worked together on two main projects, where he proven his competencies as a Developer/Data Scientist. Murali is able to work independently, in a structured manner, managing priorities, and work under pressure. He is motivated, hungry for challenges, and last but not least a great person. He was also supporting newer members of the team. I've loved my experience working with Murali, and I know that anyone looking to hire or work with him will, too.

It's rare that you come across standout talent like Murali !!

I had the pleasure of working with Murali for two years at the TATA CONSULTANCY SERVICES, collaborating on several projects.

Above all, I was impressed with Murali's ability to develop difficult solutions and to handle even the toughest client—effortlessly. That skill often takes years to develop among customer service professionals, but it seemed to come perfectly to him.

Murali would be a true asset for any positions requiring his skills set and comes with my heartfelt recommendation !!
